

Since our trip to the bluebell woods, I have been practicing my tree climbing skills. It's a pity I'm not tall because I think I would find climbing trees easier. Geraldine is very good at climbing trees, she beats me to the top every time, and I guess I am ok with that, but sometimes I am a tiny bit jealous. At night time after dinner, Bláithín and I sit down to watch a movie. We have quite a few choices, I really like the Disney Princess ones. I fall asleep watching them most nights, so Geraldine the giraffe fills me in on what I have missed from the movie. This picture is from Wednesday when I was trying to choose what movie to watch.

This week has been very busy at the start. I was still going to school with Bláithín and helping pack books away for everyone at home. In the evenings, I got to relax. The weather has been so nice that I can sunbathe almost every evening. Bláithín puts suncream on me so Geraldine the Giraffe and I don't burn.
